To whom it may concern,

I am writing to recommend Sara Kraft for the position of social worker at your organization. I have had the pleasure of working with Sara for the past 5 years and can vouch for her as an amazing social worker.

Sara is an incredibly diligent worker, who puts childrens' needs first. She works beyond the regular day and is always available as a resource to the community. Sara is honest and always has a student's best interest at heart. A necessary component to school social work, Sara began skill groups with students focusing on social skills. Her groups were kept small and focused to best meet the needs of the children on her caseload. She also came into classrooms several times a year to teach whole class lessons in an engaging way. Sara attended parent meetings where academic and social concerns were on the agenda. She was professional, yet understanding when speaking to parents. Her opinions are invaluable. The relationships Sara builds with her students is unparalleled. Students feel safe with her and trust her almost instantly.

Sara is self-motivated and is always looking to better her practices through professional development and workshops. She takes the initiative to learn new things and brings them back to school ready and willing to try them. She is easily approachable, extremely knowledgeable and always willing to help. Sara would be an asset to any organization.

Sincerely,
